SOURCE: John A. McCone (transferred to the Eisenhower Library by the Historical Office of the Department of Energy)

RESTRICTIONS AND LITERARY RIGHTS:

Instrument of gift pending Feb. 19, 1979

DESCRIPTIONS:

The papers of John A. McCone pertain to his activities as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. This material is from McCone's office file, which is now part of the records of the Department of Energy. The papers were withdrawn from the file by the Department of Energy's Historical Office and sent to the Eisenhower Library at McCone's request because they document his role as an adviser to President Eisenhower. The attached container list describes the arrangement of the papers. In most cases only a few items from each folder were sent to the Library. The material consists of correspondence, memoranda, reports and press releases. The subjects covered include the relationship between the Atomic Energy Commission and the President, the AEC's role in affecting foreign policy regarding nuclear proliferation, and the development of the U.S. atomic weapons program.
